CALEB CUSHING.

the Hon. Caleb Cushing En Loute to Geneva What He Thinks Will Be the Result of the Geneva Conference-His Expectations as to the Attitude of England.

Mr. Caleb Cushing arrived in New York on Inura-iay evening on his way to Geneva. It will probably be remembered that Mr. Cushing was retained as sounsel for the United States, with Mr. Evarts and Mr. Waite, at the Geneva Conference, or "the fribunal of Arbitration for the Settlement of the Alabama Claims," which tribunal was created by Mr. Caleb Cushing arrived in New York on Thurs-

Mr. Cushing was staying at the Astor House, rday a Herald reporter called to see the ent statesman. The reporter found Mr. Cushing looking well, with a brow as unwrinkled as though it had borne the heat of forty summers, intend of over seventy. Few men at his age look so reli preserved, and very few could claim at any age A more active mind or a better conditioned intellect.

Mr. Cashing was busy at his writing table, with a number of papers before him, which he was arranging, assisted by a youthful secretary. He arned to greet the reporter on his entrance, and

"Well, General," said the reporter, "you set out for Europe, to-morrow, I suppose?"

"Yes, I am on my way to Geneva to join the Conference on the Alabama claims."
"Mr. Evarts has gone before you. Have you heard

"Only of his safe arrival. We have had no fur-

"What are your prospects of success as to a fulfilment of the spirit of the treaty, General?"

"Well, I am very sanguine. I don't think there should be any difficulty about this thing." "There ought not to be any difficulty as to the concession of the principle; it is when you come to the details of settlement that differences may

"In the settling of the details I don't think there will be any difficulty. What, after all, is a few millions of pounds or dollars to either nation, to the healing up of this sore that has been running for so many years?"

"Is it true, General, that the bulk of the Alabama laims are held in England, after all, and that, from the monetary point of view, England has the great-st interest?"

claims are held in England, after all, and that, from the monetary point of view, England has the greatest interest?"

"Oh, no; that is one of the many delusions about this question. We have many thousands of dollars of claims here, individual claims, about which there ought not to be made question."

"England has shown a disposition to obtain a satisfactory settlement, General, and it is scarcely possible for you to meet a man who has more of the soul of honor in him than Sir Alexander Bockburn."

"Yes, I khow Chief Justice Cockburn, and know him to be a fair, honorable, true-minded man, whose record shows that he will be desirous of doing the right thing. It is quite certain, sir, that England cannot afford to permit it to be established that it is a right principle to fit out these cruisers to play havoc on the sea when an opportunity presents itself. Any way, snould such a principle be admitted, I think it might be disastrous."

"On the principle that two can play at that game, suppose, General?"

"We ll, we have rather an extensive seaboard, and it might be inconvenient for England to find its own facules adopted. However, I don't think there is any likelihood of any other settlement than the one that seems to be desired by all the world. There are some people who, out of a hatred to England, pure and simple, and with the unreasonableness of passion, would like to keep this Alabama sore open."

open."
"They are not very numerous, I hope, General?"
"I don't know out what they are numerous mough, but their disconient with England and hared of her poily has been of so long standing that thus become chronic, and I think it is scarcely posable for England to do anything that would please hem."

them."

"General, it must be a satisfaction to you and your associates that you go to the Conference with the sympathy and support of the civilized word, nearly. On the peace principle I hope that the Conference will be a success."

"There is no reason whatever why it should not be. I go with the fullest belief that it will be so, and shall do all I can to promote that result."

"I am sure, General, the Herald has the same desire, and I wish you, on its behalf, a pica-ant yoyage and a nappy termination of your labors, and I hope to greet you on your return."

Two visitors were announced, and, after a cordial hand snake, the reporter withdrew.

EDUCATIONAL MATTERS.

The Female Normal College. The annual report of the President of the Normal College has just been published. The new system of training young ladies for positions as teachers is favorably contrasted with the inefficient method favorably contrasted with the inefficient method formerly in existence, of clacing lemales iresh from the grammar school class room in charge of children. Freshent limiter says that the higher education of women is more important than that of men; for the morals of the people are moulded at an age when the character receives its abiding bias from mothers and primary teachers, he points out the many advantages—moral, material, and economical—which have resulted from the founding of the college. The work of the training school in St. Mark's place mosts with general appropation. Here the pupils The work of the training school in St. Mark's place meets with general approparation. Here the pupils of the graduating class are exercised in teaching every aiternate week; their work is criticised and shortcomings are duly noticed by the President in his lectures on the methods of teaching. He also teaches intellectual parlosophy, at the same time inculcating the principles of morality and the great truths which are essential to the welfare of society. The daily attendance during the year averaged was. The report closes with a well-merited compliment to Vice President Dundon and the other professors. Mr. Hunter devotes his lensure hours to the pursuit of science and literature, and has recently positioned a work on plane geometry—the abject that has yet appeared in the schools.

Reception at Grammar School No. 31. At noon yesterday the large room of this school in Monroe street, near Montgomery, was crowded by the pupils and their (riends, to attend the first reception which has been given there in four years. The exercises consisted of recitations, readings, music, and the distribution of prizes and certificates. On the platform were Messrs. Thomas shells, John Ford, F. J. Haggerty, Mr. McNamara, and the able and accomplished Principal, Hearly P. O'Nell. Mrs. Kate Fizpatrick presided at the plano with very creditable success. In the chanting of the songs and the periormance of their respective parts the boys displayed a proficiency which it would be difficult to excel. Six silver medials were presented by the Principal to the boys whose attendance had been perior during the term. Mr. O'Brien, the Vice Principal, presented two silver watches and a mimber of books for proficiency, and a silver medial and several prize books for exemplary deportment to the most successful upplies of his class. The other teachers also gave premiums to the most proficient boys, and certificates were presented to nearly seventy of the scholars. Speeches were made complimenting the Frincipal and teachers for the energy and talent which they manifested in training and educating the young minds entrusted to their charge. This school promises to rival all others in the district. music, and the distribution of prizes and certifi-

Next Monday morning, at nine o'clock, the semiannual examination of the students of the College of the City of New York will take place at the Col-lege. Since the accession of General Alexander Webb to the presidential chair the college has been Webb to the presidential chair the college has been improved and reformed in every particular, especially in the line of discipline. The examination, which will last five days, will be very stringent this year, as it is the intention of the President and Faculty to keep the standing of the college second to none in the country. On Monday the seniors will be examined in spherical astronomy by Professor Compton; the Juniors, in physics, by Professor Dorsemus; the sophomores, in calculus and logic, by Professors Doctarty and Huntaman; the Ireshmen, in American literature and natural history, by Professor Bottostry and Huntaman; the Ireshmen, in American literature and natural history, by Professors Barton and Draper, and the introductories, in their new building, in French, Latin and German, by lutors Fabregon, Tisdail and others, and so on through the week.

On Monday, February 5, all returns of the examination of the students of the College conducted during the previous week must be in the hands of the Fresident's Secretary. The papers of students deficient at examination must be separated from the remainder, and a special return of the marks, together with these papers, must be handed to the Secretary. The Faculty will meet to act upon these reports on Wednesday, February 7, as ten o'clock A. The money market was easy and quiet. The stock houses paid 6 and 7 per cent in about equal proportions, and the government dealers 6 per cent, but lenders, who pressed the latter to take balances, were content with 5 per cent. The prevailing dulness on the stock Exchange has restricted fresh business on call, and the loan market is occupied chiefly with renewals of outstanding engagements.

Prime paper is taken more readily by the regular buyers of this kind of investment, and passes at 7

Foreign exchange was weak early in the day, and sales of prime sixty day sterling were reported at 100, but the market was steadler at the close on the basis of 100 a 100% for good to prime bankers' sixty day sterling, and 100% a 100% for the same grades of sight bills, drawers allowing a liberal brokerage

GOLD STRONG-109 A 109%.

The impression that a new clique has been organized in the gold market was encouraged by certain symptoms which manifested themselves to-day, although the firmer tone of the premium can be explained by lower quotations for five-twenties in London. It is said that the leading "buli" opera-tor who recently marketed his stocks at a very handsome profit is puzzied to know what to do. pending a contemplated tour in Europe this sum-mer, one is rather inclined to think that gold is, on the whole, the best thing to invest in. Stocks are his favorite, but he seems unwilling to take back what he sold unless at a decline from current prices. They are not high enough yet, he thinks, to begin bearing them. In this un-certainty he has turned his attention to the gold market, which, being within one per cent of the lowest point it has touched in nearly ten years, offers the probability of a reaction in the theory of the doctrine of chances. Whatever the merit of these views, his interest in the market, coupled with a reaction in our bonds in London, had the effect of the probability of the dealings of advancing gold from 109 to 109%, the dealings at 10934 late in the day being on a very large scale. The course of the market is shown in the table:-

The Southern list was better for pretty nearly everything except the Tennessees, which continued heavy, if not weak, with an unusually wide margin between buyers' and sellers' prices. The chief features were the Virginia consols and the Missouri sixes, both of which were strong and about 1½ per cent higher. The Virginias were favorably taffuenced by a report from Richmond saying that the Joint Committee on Funding will report a bill which is to pay 1½ per cent interest for January 1, 1872, and fund two-thirds of the accrued interest on the old debt, at the same time creating a new bond, bearing interest at the rate of 3 per cent for twelve years, 6 per cent for ten years and 9 per cent for twelve years, finto which the consols may be converted, par for par. It will be seen that the new bond, having thirty-four years to run, would pay as bond, having thirty-four years to run, would pay a total of 204 per cent interest, or an average of 6 per cent per annum. The rise in Missouri's is probably cent per annum. The rise in Missouri's is probably due to a veto by the Governor of the Currency Payment bill, although the press despatches this evening said nothing on the subject. It is thought that the governors of the Stock Exchange will announce to-morrow a new by-law forbidding dealings after five o'clock daily, the hour at which the building closes, excepting during periods of unusual activity, when, by special motion at the Board, business may be prolonged to such time as the Stock Exchange shall be allowed to remain open. The object of the law is to break up the practice of dealing in stocks on the sidewalk after the adjournment of the Stock Exchange.

DRUNKEN ROW IN A PORTER HOUSE.

Accused. On Sunday afternoon, December 17, John Murphy, a coatman, and James Larkin, a laborer, both much under the influence of liquor, entered John Fay's porter house, 291 avenue C, and there in-dulged in divers drinks. They had an angry alterdulged in divers drinks. They had an angry altercation, and as Larkin was leaning forward on a stick Murphy kicked the stick out at the bottom, but Larkin did not fail, as was expected. They then cinched, and during a scunle that immediately ensued Larkin produced a pistol, and, pointing it downwards, snapped it two or three times. At the explosion which followed a builet was lodged in Murphy's left knee, indicting a severe wound, which, however, he paid little attention to. After the lapse of four or five days the wound, from negret, became painful, and Murphy proceeded to Bellevue Hospital, where the injured himo was subsequently amputated, and death followed on Sunday last from pyemia. Yesterday afternoon Coroner Herrman gave the matter a thorough investigation, when the Iriends of deceased sought to prove that the shooting was quite accidental, although they wished to conceal the lact that since Murphy's death Larkin has fiel and is still at large.

After instening patiently to the testimony the jury rendered the following verdict;—"That John Aur-ing been recklessly and maliciously discharged in the hands of James Larkin, in the porter house 201 avenue C, on the 17th day of December, 1871."

On the finding of the verdict Coroner Herrman issued a warrant for Larkin's arrest, and placed it in the hands of Captain Cameron, of the Eighteenth precinct, for execution.

POLITICAL MOVEMENTS AND VIEWS.

[New York (Jan. 25) Correspondence of the Boston Post.]

At a dinner party given to Governor Hoffman at Delmonico's, by leading democrats, last Saturday night, important measures were agreed upon for the inauguration of a movement to defeat General Grant. For that purpose not only Tammany Hall is to be reorganized, but plans will also be set on foot to unite all of Tammany will retire from office in a month or so. Others will be elected, and the inture Sachems will mittees which have hitherto opposed Tammany. Governor Hoffman himself heads the new move-ment, and before the month of April all those now outside of Tammany will be admitted, with Mr. Schell as Grand Sachem. The work of adding new elements to the reorganized democracy will be pushed during the next two months, at the expira-of which the campaign against Grant will be begun in earnest.

The Connecticut Republican State Convention and the Successor of Scontor Ferry. [From the Albany Journal (republican), Jan. 25.] There was one significant feature of the Convention and its accompanying proceedings. The next Legislature of Connecticut is to choose a United States Senator in place of Senator Ferry. Mr. Ferry is a candidate for re-election, and General Hawley mentioned as a competitor. Both had warm friends at the Convention, and the subject was freely canvassed in the preliminary cancus. Mr. Ferry has acted to a considerable extent—and notably in the recent contests in the Senate—with those Senators who are adverse to General Grant, But while he had his partisans in the Convention But while he had his partisans in the Convention none of them indicated any opposition to the President or to his renomination, but, on the contrary, cordially sustained both. We do not know that Senator Ferry is himself adverse to the administration, though he is understood to be not very irlendly. But the fact is significant that, though elements of the party may be friendly to a representative leader who occupies an equivocal attitude, they do not themselves faiter in their support of the President. And the same thing is as true of other States as of Connecticut.

FISK'S LAST HOTEL BILL.

Yesterday Mr. John H. Comer, who has been appointed by Mrs. Fisk her representative in the settlement of the estate of her late husband, called at the Grand Central Hotel to settle the bill due Mr. Powers for the time Mr. Fisk land at his hotel. A bill for $500 was presented to Mr. Comer, who pronounced it satisfactory, and gave a check for the amount. It will thus be seen that the statement which went the rounds of the press to the effect that Mr. Powers had presented a oill to Mr. Comer for $2,500 was incorrect.
